Monessen High Boys Narrowly Escape Death In An Auto Accident

FIGHT TO SAVE BOY'S SLAYERS IS ON

Millionaire Parents of Murderers of Robert Franks Serve Notice On State's Attorney They Will Apply Habeas Corpus Writ

STATE'S ATTORNEY ACTIVE

Crowe Declares That State Has a "Hanging Case, and No Legal Technicalities Will Stay the Ends of Justice"—Students Blame Each Other

Chicago, June 2—The fight to save Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, youthful slayers of 14-year-old Robert Franks, from the gallows began today.

Millionaire parents of the boy kidnaper-murderers brought every force to bear in defense of their sons and attorneys for them served notice on State's Attorney Crowe that they will apply for a writ of habeas corpus at 10 a. m.

The state's attorney was equally active.

"We have a hanging case," he said grimly, "and no legal technicalities will stay the ends of justice."

Crowe had three alienists examine the prisoners to forestall an effort to set up an insanity plea, and left no loophole open in the confession he wrung from the student murderers.

They were forced to go over again in detail their confession of the revolting crime, the picking up of the Franks boy in their hired motor car as he was on his way home from school, the killing by beating him on the head with a padded steel chisel, the night ride through the city with the body and the final disposal of it under a slimy culvert in a swamp.

The state's attorney also took the boys to the bloodstained auto and made them re-identify it.

Leopold, maintaining the supercilious calm he has exhibited since arrest, readily consented to pose at the wheel of the machine for photographers. He refused to enter the car with his companion and lifelong chum, Loeb, however, and sneered at the younger boy for "squawking."

Both of the students accused the other of the actual murder today and there was manifest some bad blood between them.

Loeb bitterly denied his chum's

Oil City, June 2—A baseball thrown wild instantly killed Mrs. George Hughes when it struck her on the head after glancing from one automobile ito the one she occupied. The accident occurred Saturday at a game near Petroleum Center, Venango county.

NONE ARE BADLY HURT—ARRESTED RECKLESS SPEED

Five wellknown Monessen young men, and students of the Monessen High school, one of whom is in the graduating class, commencement taking place tomorrow evening, had a miraculous escape from death, if not serious injury, this forenoon at 11:45 at Belle Vernon. All esaped with painful hurts, none of them, however, of a serious character. They were in a Hupmobile machine, going south toward Brownsville, and traveling, it is asserted, at a rate of 40 miles an hour, when the driver, John Kuzma, ran into the big bell of the Pennsylvania Railroad and lodged between the bell and the watchman's shanty. With Kuzma in the automobile were Bernard Miller, Tony Purmella, Bernard Samuels, and Daniel Derocco, all of the five being thrown from the machine. A summary of their injuries, they receiving first aid at the hands of Dr. Gordon of Belle Vernon, revealed:

Kuzma, right eye gashed, lacerations of the chin, and right leg bruised.

Miller, scalp wound, requiring four stitches, and lacerations of the face, caused by flying glass.

Purmella, gash on the head and both legs hurt.

Samuels and Derocco were but slightly hurt.

The automobile was wrecked. It was the property of Myer Miller, an uncle of the Miller young man.

The boys were posting bills on the line of their route toward Brownsville.

Purmella is a member of the graduating class of the Monessen schools. That all of the boys were not killed outright, is considered a miracle.

They were all placed under arrest by Burgess John Hatfield of Speers and Deputy Constable Robert Cowell, and will be given a hearing on a charge of reckless driving before Burgess Hatfield on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Wrecked Auto In Trying To Catch Car

P. S. Tappen of Pittsburgh was arrested by Patrolman Charles Young of Monongahela Saturday morning, charged with reckless driving.

Tappen is a distributor for the Am- [illegible] company of Pittsburgh and drives a Ford truck. Prior to the accident he was sitting in the machine on one of Monongahela's streets, when the wife of one of his customers missed the 10 o'clock street car for Pittsburgh, and Tappen volunteered to rush [illegible] the car in an attempt to overtake it. In trying to avoid hitting a pedestrian crossing the street, Tappen ran into a curbing and damaged the car somewhat, but fortunately neither of the occupants was hurt.

Tappen was haled before the mayor of the city and fined for reckless driving.

VALLEY SOLDIER IS TO BE PARDONED

Innocence of Clarence Massey, Twice Decorated For Bravery With the Marines, Convicted of Killing Officer, Is Now Confirmed

RELEASE MAY COME SOON

Massey Is the Son of Mrs. Jesse Massey of Park Avenue, Monongahela, And Is Now Confined As a Prisoner At Fort Leavenworth, Kansas

Word has been received at Monongahela by petitioners from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, that a pardon has been recommended for Clarence Massey, son of Mrs Jesse Massey of Park avenue, that city, who is now confined at Leavenworth.

Young Massey, with his brother, both of Monongahela, were members of the United States Marines and were in the thick of the fighting at Chateau Thierry when the Marines and French soldiers under the direction of General Joffre, stopped the German advance.

Massey had been at the front 40 days when he was wounded slightly and sent back to a rest camp. He with a number of comrades visited a cafe in a small village in France near a convalescent camp and while there a fight ensued in which a second lieutenant of the United States Army was mysteriously shot and killed. Suspicion pointed to Massey and he was tried by court martial in France a few days later.

All the evidence was circumstantial but it was never clearly proven that the Monongahela boy was guilty of the shooting. However, he was sentenced to be shot but this was later reconsidered and he was given a life sentence. Later this was commuted to a long term at Leavenworth prison

Several efforts were made to have Massey pardoned when additional evidence was secured showing that Massey was not guilty and two congressmen have been particularly active in his behalf for three years.

Lately the matter was taken up by a United States Senator from Pennsylvania and resulted in the recommendation for his release on the grounds that his innocence has been established. Massey made a good record as a soldier and was twice decorated for bravery, first by the French and then by the American forces. Since, October, 1918, he has been a prisoner at Leavenworth. It is expected that will be released in August.

John Popojack, of Ellsworth, in suing his wife, Maria Popojack, charges her with desertion, in that she has refused to join him in America, notwithstanding he has sent her money, and that she has said she will never live with him again. They were married in Austria Hungary, now Jugo-Slavia, on September 25, 1910. He came to America in May 1912.

WET WEATHER DELAYS FARMERS

The cold and wet weather of the last month has seriously delayed the planting of crops and rendered dirt roads in some places impassable, thereby slowing up farm activities in general, County Farm Agent Ellwood H. Fulton, declared yesterday. Home grown vegetables are late reaching the market this year because of the delay in the schedule of market gardeners.

Due to the late spring and continued wet weather, many farmers have not yet finished sowing oats, which should have been in the ground by May 1. Corn planting time is at hand and with the oat crop still unplanted, the corn crop will be seriously delayed. Late sown oates with normal weather in June and July, Agent Fulton said, is frequently not worth harvesting.

"In some cases it will be advisable for farmers to let the oats ground lie and devote their time to getting in the corn as soon as possible," Mr. Fulton stated. "The oats ground may later be planted with soy beans or hay. This crop may be harvested in time to disk the ground for the winter grain in the fall."

FRANK SCHREYER IS DEAD IN CITY OF PITTSBURGH

Frank Schreyer, aged 52, a former resident of Charleroi and one of the best known and highly respected citizens of this place, died early this morning at his home in Perrysville avenue, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Schreyer lived in Charleroi for a period of 20 years, moving to Pittsburgh about two years ago, where he was connected with the World Coffee company of that place. He was united in marriage with Margaret Zellers, daughter of William Zellers, former proprietor of the Charleroi Hotel. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

MAN IS ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Pittsburgh, June 2—By the [illegible] of the court in the case of James Landis, last of five penitentiary convicts arraigned on a murder charge resulting from the killing of two guards during the riot in the prison last February, was acquitted by a jury in criminal court today. District Attorney Gardner told the judge the commonwealth had no evidence in the Landis case and believed him innocent.

Common Pleas Court Opens Its Third Week With Today

Common pleas court opened its third and last week today at Washington. In the suit of John Miller against Mike Juronowvicz, a damage claim, growing out of an auto collision on the improved highway north of Finleyville, the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $5.22. The case went to the jury late Thursday, and a verdict was returned in a short time.

In the suit of Mrs. Laura Legler against the P. C. C. & St. L. R. R. Co., taken up Thursday afternoon before Judge Erwin Cummins, the court granted the motion of the counsel for the defense for a compulsory nonsuit. The plaintiff failed to show in any manner that the railroad company was responsible for the death of the plaintiff's husband, found mangled and dead on the tracks of the defendant company, just east of the Birmingham station, Pittsburgh.

The husband had worked in Steubenville, had written his wife he expected to return home, and a day or two later his body was found on the tracks in Pittsburgh. The theory of the plaintiff was that her husband had boarded a train at Steubenville and that in some manner he had fallen from the train after it reached Pittsburgh. However, there was no evidence that Legler had boarded a train, was on a train, and there was nothing to show how he chanced to be on the tracks where he met his death.

MAKES CLAUSE IN PAROLE STRONG

Brownsville, June 2.—Following the example of Governor Pinchot who has demanded a pledge to obey the laws from all appointed state officials, Judge E. H. Reppert, of Fayette county court, has inserted a strengthening clause in parole oaths taken in his court.

Judge Reppert announced his intention at a session just before he began sentencing 50 persons for violation of the liquor laws so it was presumed that his new pledge was intended to bring about stricter enforcement of prohibition.

The additional clause reads as follows: "The defendant in his personal conduct of his business or employment will faithfully observe the laws of the commonwealth."

SHOWMAN STABS MONESSEN COP

Saturday afternoon Patrolman Joseph Nacal, member of the Monessen police force, was stabbed in the back with a penknife in the hands of Samuel Connor, colored, aged 16, of Braddock, when he ordered Connor from Page park, where the Monessen American Legion baseball team contested with the Homewood Tressers.

The Great American Show company is staging a circus in Monessen under the auspices of the firemen of that place, and the ball park is adjoining the circus grounds. A number of policemen were stationed at the park to keep out those who came in the grounds without paying admission. Seeing the colored man, who is a member of the circus, enter the park without the yellow tag, which designated whether he had paid admission or not, the officer went up to the man and ordered him from the grounds. Connor refused on the ground that he was a circus hand and was privileged to enter as he pleased. After repeated refusals, the officer caught Connor by the shoulder and was attempting to push the youth off the premises, when Connor pulled the open penknife from his coat pocket and stabbed the officer between the shoulder blades. The wound inflicted was 3-8 of an inch deep and 1 1-2 inches long. Connor was placed under arrest, while the officer was placed under a physician's care.

THE BIGGEST BOOTLEGGER

One of the many unforseen and unintended results of the national prohibition—one of the many evil consequences never thought of or taken into account by its friends and promoters—has been vividly brought into light in the case of George Remus, who was brought under guard from the Federal penitentiary in Atlanta to testify before the Brookhart committee of the Senate. According to his account, Remus was a practicing lawyer in Chicago when the Volstead law was passed. He did not drink and had never been associated with [illegible] he saw his opportunity. He went to Cincinnati and acquired ten distilleries in Ohio and neighboring states, organizing a chain of wholesale companies through which application could be made for withdrawal of liquor, ostensibly for medicinal purposes but really for his great bootleg trade. "The demand," he testified, "was much greater than the supply; people would come from all over the country to consult and advise with me and try to obtain liquor." Even sacramental wine was furnished. Permits ranged from $15 to $21 a case. Remus confessed to buying and selling more than 250,000 cases of liquor, the transactions running up to the vast sum of $20.000,000. Perhaps the biggest of all the bootleggers spoke of it as "the greatest comedy" he had ever seen.

This man's testimony was wanted because it was known that he claimed to have paid "protection," after difficulties confronted him. He assured the committee that in all he had paid Jesse Smith, the friend of Daugherty, a quarter of a million dollars to "use his influence" with the Attorney General. The truth of his story in every particular may be matter for debate. What is of more interest to the reflecting observer is the fact that his case is typical of many, and that under prohibition the liquor traffic is of enormous proportions perhaps more profitable than it ever was before.

METRO STAR IS A HIT IN PIECE

A decided departure from the usual run of Mae Murray pictures, and filled with many fine moments of comedy ad drama, "Mademaoselle Midnight," the Metro star's latest picture,opens tonight at the Coyle Theatre for a stay of 3 days.

The film began with a prologue depicting the court of Napoleon III. and introduced a French lady in waiting. This girl, portrayed by Miss Murray is the grandmother of the modern girl of the story proper. The beauty of the scenes at court are simply astounding, and Miss Murray looks magnificent in the hoop-skirts of the period.

Going into the modern period, the change of scene nevertheless keeps the same air of old-fashioned beauty that prevails in the opening sequence. The Mexico of Miss Murray's picture is a delightful, backward sort of place with quaint houses and quainter people.

Throat Disorder Cause of Most Heart Disease

Any inflammation of the joints in children or young persons, especially if accompanied by fever, should be looked upon as a possible source of damage to the heart, and calls for rest in bed and treatment by the family physician. In children rheumatism shows itself not only in the form of rheumatic fever, but in other ways that are less easily recognized—especially as troublesome "growing pains" and as the nervous affection known as chorea, or St. Vitus' dance.

The conditions have the same dangerous possibilities of setting up inflammation of the heart valves as has inflammatory rheumatism itself and deserves the same careful treatment.

"In children who have had rheumatic symptoms of any sort, or who have signs of damage to the heart valves, infected tonsils and adenoids should be given to the teeth and mouth," Dr. Lewis A Conner, professor of medicine at the Cornell university medical school, said in a recent radio lecture broadcast by the New York state department of health. "A better understanding on the part of parents, teachers and the general public of the important relation of throat infections and the various rheumatic manifestations of childhood to valvular heart disease would prevent many children from becoming subject to heart disease."—New York Times.

"Positive," she assured him.

"And do you think he will put me in all the best clubs in town?"

"Certainly, Wilber."

"And are you certain that he will provide us with money enough to live in the style to which I feel I ought to have been accustomed?"

"Absolutely, Wilber."

"And he will take me into the firm and let me put my name first on the letter heads?"

"He will, Wilber."

"And do you think he would let me give jazz parties here every week after we're married?"

"Of course, Wilber."

He made as though to kiss her, and then started to his feet.

"Good by forever!" he cried, hoarsely. "Your father is too eager to get you off his hands."—Detroit Free Press.

Mice Answer Dinner Bell

White mice have been taught the meaning of the dinner bell. What is more, they have been able to transmit some sense of its significance to their offspring so that they may more easily be taught to jump for the table when the bell rings. The experiments are described in Science by Prof. Ivan P. Pawlow, the Russian physiologist

The first generation of white mice required 300 lessons before they realized that the ringing of an electric bell meant that dinner was ready. After that they quickly trotted to the feeding place when they heard it tinkle.

Their young ones caught on to the trick after only 100 lessons, while their offspring in turn learned after only 30 The fifth generation had apparently so well inherited the tendency to "obey that impulse" that after only five trials they were ready and waiting.

Professor Pawlow hopes that future generations will know the meaning of an electric bell, just as surely as a new-born chick knows the meaning of a fragment of grain.

Commonest Metal

Iron is the metal most used by man, yet the metal which is by far commonest in the earth's crust is not iron, but calcium. Forty per cent of limestone is calcium. Calcium is a very light metal, easily hammered, easily drawn out into wire, and almost as pretty in color as gold. Why then, you may ask, do we not make more use of it? There are two reasons: the first that it is very difficult to isolate from its ores, but the second is worse. When isolated, let the merest drop of moisture touch calcium and it fizzes away into slaked lime The present price of calcium is about twenty times that of gold.

Charleroi Beats Scottdale In A Contest Featured By The Batting Of Smith

Charleroi defeated Scottdale Saturday afternoon by a score of 9 2. The game, which was witnessed by a large crowd, about half of whom were Scottdale rooters, was featured by the batting of Smith, third baseman for Charleroi, and the pitching of Harry Beatty, who gave one of the best exhibitions of twirling ever seen on the Charleroi grounds. The Scottdale club opened auspiciously, when after Koph singled in the first inning, Randolph drove him home with a mighty three-base drive to the center field fence. Thereafter, Beatty had the heavy sluggers of the Scottdale team well in hand, particularly, Jack Snyder, the crack backstop of the club, who has performed for the Charleroi club, and once was the property of the Brooklyn Nationals. Snyder could do nothing with Beatty's curves, failing to get a hit. The run that Scottdale got in the seventh was unearned, and was made after two men were out and a chance offered to re[illegible] lips got mixed up in a play at first; the batter eventually reached second, and scored, when Lew Phillips misjudged a line drive. This hit should have been an out, but the scorer gave the batter a hit. The score should have been 9-1.

Beatty, aside from pitching superbly, was given gilt-edge support by both the Charleroi inner works and the outfield. Taylor and Peake of the West Newton team were at second and shortstop, and played well, Peake getting two hits, but Taylor failed to connect safely. The contest was a pitchers' battle until the sixth inning, when the locals solved Picard's hurling to the tune of four runs. After that they scored at will. The summaries:

PIRATES LOSE A CLOSE STRUGGLE AT CHICAGO

Blowing what the eminent realtor would term "the opportunity of a lifetime," the Pirates fell before the Cubs yesterday by a score of 2 to 1.

Johnny Morrison hurled well well enough to win the ordinary battle but his comrades were unable to give him the proper assistance, the only time they really had a chance to walk off with a victory. The big chance came in the sixth inning when the ball game was decided. Carey beat out a bunt and so did Bigbee. Hartnett, the Chicago catcher, tried to catch Carey off second base and whipped the old apple into center field. Thereupon Carey hustled for third. The generous Statz laid hands on it and threw it over Friberg's head. The onion was retrieved in time to hold Carey on third but Bigbee legged to second without a play being made.

Pirate stock ascended like the well-known skyrocket at this juncture. However, Aldridge drew his portly person together and, as the ball players "bore down," Wright fouled to Cotter against the stands. Barnhart fouled to Hartnett. So much for the good work of Aldridge. From then on he needed help and he got it. Traynor whacked a long fly that seemed destined for the right field bleachers. Heathcote pursued it and leaped against the stands to retire the side. It is very difficult to beat such playing as this.

In our hearts there comes a longing,
For our baby to come home.

Sadly missed by mother, father, brother and all who loved him. 305t1

Tested to meet the severest strain

JAR rubbers are hard hit by modern methods of canning. For hours at a time they must resist the effect of intense moist heat, which alone is enough to destroy the usefulness of ordinary rubber.

Only jar rubbers of quality can stand up under these severe tests of modern canning. Before you can be sure your jar rubber will keep your pack safe you must know it will do the two important things every jar rubber must do if it is to make an air-tight seal. It must first stretch and then it must "set."

It must stretch enough to pass easily over the neck of the jar. Too much stretch, however, robs the rubber of the ability to come back into place—to "set." Only if the rubber will "set" firmly, closely gripping the neck of the jar, can you be sure of an air-tight seal.

"U. S." Jar Rubbers are thoroughly tested for stretch and "set." The formula for making them was developed in the great laboratories of the United States Rubber Company. Experts who make "U.S." Jar Rubbers check and recheck their performance under conditions like those in actual use. These jar rubbers come to you tested to withstand all the punishment of modern canning and still give you a perfect seal.

Ask your dealer for "U.S." Jar Rubbers.

INQUIRY INTO A WOMAN'S DEATH

Harrisburg, June 2.—Investigation into the shooting here Sunday which resulted in the death of Mrs. Anna Mandeck and the serious injury of Dr. C. Bailey was retarded today by the refusal of the physician to make any statement to the district attorney.

"Dr. Bailey has been advised by his counsel not to talk," District Attorney Fox said today. The woman was found dead from a bullet wound in the doctor's office early Sunday morning. The first report of the tragedy was given by Dr. Bailey when he staggered into the home of his next door neighbor and said "that woman shot me."

"DOES IT PAY;" A VITAL SUBJECT

"Does It Pay?" comes to the Majestic Theatre for two days, Wednesday and Thursday.

Produced by Fox Film Corporation the picture is filled with drama that will interest the spectator who recognizes the importance of the social question involved, and will prove excellent entertainment for all. Honor and truth and the sanctity of the home are dealt with frankly, and the influences that tend to destroy the peace and quiet of family life are held up in their true light. The folly of a man expecting to find happiness when he discards the wife and mother who has always remained faithful to her duties, and installs an unprincipled young woman in her place, is the theme of "Does It Pay?" The number of such cases in actual life has been made known through the daily papers, men prominent in the financial world being in the lead.

The story told on the screen is not only timely but presents its subject with telling force. The author of the story is Beatrice Dovskie, and the direction has been in charge of Charles Horan. Many of the scenes take place in unusually handsome interiors. The New York home of John Weston, the millionaire who yields to the wishes of his new wife and finds himself plunged into the dissipations of a set of wasters, is one of the number.

FIGHT TO SAVE BOY'S SLAYERS

statement that he killed the boy while Leopold drove.

"It's a lie," the harassed youth shouted bitterly. "He was driving when he hit the kid."

Detectives said the "intellectual murderers" presented the most unusual case in their experience.

Leopold, blase super-student, a post graduate in law at the University of Illinois, master of many languages and dilletante in the sciences, scoffed at the moral aspects of the case.

"I can see no particular reason why people should be so horrified at our experiment," he said, in discussing how he planned the crime for the $10,000 ransom money he hoped to get and the "intellectual thrill" involved.

"Morally it is just as easy to justify such a homicide as it is the impaling of a beetle on a pin by an entomologist."
